

Services to Runaways and At-risk Youth (STAR)

The Services to Runaways and At-risk Youth (STAR) program was developed to assist local communities in serving youth who often fall between the cracks of the service delivery system. Their problems are not severe enough to receive services from traditional systems such as Child Protective Services of TDPRS or Juvenile Probation. Therefore, the STAR program has established 33 contracts around the state with local agencies who make crisis counseling, emergency short-term residential care, and skill training available to runaway and at-risk youths and their families.

Runaway and At-risk Youth who Received Counseling and Residential Services

A youth can receive both counseling and residential services during a fiscal year.
