

Texas Department of Family and Protective Services (DFPS) Self Assessment for Family Based Safety Services (FBSS) Position

The presence of a consistent, dedicated child protective services worker has a positive impact on accurate assessments of child safety and on permanency outcomes for children under the State's care. Turnover of staff reduces accurate assessments of child safety and a child's successful reunification with the family, placement with relatives or adoption. Staff turnover also interferes with the continuity and quality of services to children and families. Thus, it is important for those considering a career in child welfare to carefully evaluate their own personal characteristics and to understand DFPS work as well.

The self-assessment is designed to provide you with additional information about whether a position in child protective services is for you and, if so, are you better suited for a specific type of position. The items are related to employees' intentions to remain employed in child welfare. An honest self-assessment can help you make an informed decision about whether employment in child welfare is right for you.

In rating each self-assessment item, reflect carefully on your own personal characteristics and professional career goals as a potential employee in child welfare. Be as honest as you can in your ratings of each item. Use a pencil or pen and paper and record your numerical rating for each self-assessment item. There are no right or wrong ratings, only those that will inform you about the extent to which you may or may not be a good fit for a child welfare position in DFPS. Record and total your ratings, then compare your score to the ranges at the end of the self-assessment. Should you be contacted for an interview, please bring in your results for discussion.

Instructions: Read and respond to each item using this scale:

1-Strongly Disagree, 2-Disagree, 3-Agree, 4-Strongly Agree

1. I believe I would enjoy working in public child welfare despite the challenges I may face.
2. I am interested in making child welfare my long-term professional career.
3. I am committed to seeking a position in child welfare even though opportunities for a higher salary may exist elsewhere.
4. I believe the personal and professional benefits outweigh the difficulties and frustrations of working in public child welfare.
5. My personal success in working with clients will not be a significant factor in determining whether I remain employed in child welfare.
6. I enjoy reviewing and evaluating lots of information to make an informed decision.
7. I am willing to visit disadvantaged and/or dangerous neighborhoods if my work requires it.
8. I am comfortable taking on cases initiated by another worker by quickly familiarizing myself with the facts in order to ensure a smooth transition.

9. I would enjoy developing a relationship with children and families on my workload and making regular visits to evaluate their progress.
10. I would be able to maintain objectivity in my work even if the family resisted the help.
11. I would be comfortable recommending possible removal of children from their home after establishing a relationship with the family if it was in the best interest of the children.
12. I would be comfortable working with the attorneys, judges and other child and family advocates to ensure the best outcome for the children on my workload.
13. I am interested in scheduling and possibly transporting children and families on my workload to various appointments as required to help the family remain intact.
14. As a child welfare professional, I believe I can have a positive and long-lasting influence on children and families in need.
15. I am committed to working in child protective services even though it could require a considerable amount of time to complete required paperwork and case documentation.
16. I am the kind of person that can handle a lot of ongoing stress and unpredictable situations.

Total your score and compare it to the score ranges and recommendations that follow:

Score range 15-26

Your self-assessment results show that it is very unlikely that you are a good fit for a job as a child welfare professional at DFPS. This job is probably not for you. Please review some of the other job opportunities with the Department of Family and Protective Services at accessHRportal. Thank you for your interest in child welfare in Texas

Score range 27-38

Your self-assessment results show that you are somewhat unlikely to be a good fit for a job as a child welfare professional at DFPS. This job may not be for you. Please review some of the other job opportunities with the Department of Family and Protective Services at accessHRportal. Thank you for your interest in child welfare in Texas

Score range 39-49

Your self-assessment results show that you may be a reasonable fit for a job as a child welfare professional with the Department of Family and Protective Services. This job may be for you. Please begin the application process.

Score range - 50-60

Congratulations! Your self-assessment results show that you may be an excellent fit for a job as a child welfare professional with the Department of Family and Protective Services. This job is probably for you. Please begin the application process.